MY GRAND

We dreamed of you
We waited for you
We all welcome you
We all love you
You are in our hearts
You are a big bundle of joy
You are our lives now
July 28, 2003 was a great day

KRISH, AS TIME PASSES

You will be growing young
I will grow older
You will become active
While I will slow down
You will become energetic
I will slowly lose my energy

You will grow independent
I have to depend on others
You will eat all kind of foods
My in take will be limited
You will take drinks
I will take medicines

You will be strong and healthy
I will need doctors & hospitals
You will be entering the world
I will be leaving the world
You will do all and more than I did
I will not be able do what I used to do
You will be going up the hill
I will be going down the hill

You will be embracing the world
I will be giving up on the world
You will be having joy
I will be in pain
You will be traveling the world
I will be confined to bed
Your memory power will increase
I will forget even memorable events

You will be loaded with energy
I will be losing mine
You will be gaining weight
I will be losing weight
You will get more hair

I will be losing mine
You will be getting teeth
I will be losing mine

You will keep yourself clean
I would need to be cleaned
You would have lots to offer to world
I will be accepting from the world
I will be happy to see you growing up
You will be unhappy to see me in pain
You will be exploring the world
I will be thinking of the next life

One day I will be with my parents
While you will remain with yours
You know, I am very happy to see
These opposing events occurring
However, many things
Would remain unchanged and the same
You will remain my grand(son)
I will remain your grand(pa)
You will like me
I will like you
I will miss you
You will miss me
We will love each other for ever and ever
This bond of two grands will remain for ever and ever

MAY GOD BLESS YOU MY GRAND

Your Grandpa Gordhan